

Models We Service

Aumictech Labs repairs and calibrates fusion splicers across every major manufacturer, current and discontinued.

The list below covers the single-fiber, ribbon (mass-fusion), and polarization-maintaining (PM) splicers we take in for repair, electrode and arc service, alignment and camera work, high splice loss correction, board and power repair, and full recalibration with a test-splice certificate. If your model is not listed, send us the model number. We service more legacy units than most independent labs, and we keep electrodes, cleaver blades, and donor parts for machines the OEM no longer supports.
